Subject: CPUC R0309006/Comments of Southern California District Council of Laborers

Hello Parties, No one at the Commission to whom I've spoken is able to open the document served by the Southern California District Council of Laborers, probably because of the unusual software that appears to support it. I hereby direct SCDCL to reserve the document in order that we may lawfully file it. Once the parties have received an accessible copy electronically, they have 6 business days to file replies.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Subject: CPUC Rulemaking 0309006 RE utility contracting practices

Hello Parties,

The PUC seems to be having some problems receiving electronic documents. In the past two weeks, I have received electronic versions of the following:

- Comments by SCDCL

- Appendix A for SCDCL's comments

- A note from John Dutcher for Mountain Utilities

- Joint Reply comments from SDG&E and SoCalGas

I have not seen PG&E's reply comments, which Mr. Dutcher references, or the appendices for the SCDCL comments other than Appendix A.

If you have filed something in this docket in the past two weeks, please resend your copies electronically and please let me know if you have filed a document or intend to in the next week.

Finally, I have not received hard copies of the SCDCL filings, which are required by the Commission's rules. I ask SCDCL to mail me copies of its complete filing, with appendices, today by express mail.

Thank you,

Kim Malcolm

Subject: Supplemental Reply Comments in CPUC R0309006

Hello Parties,

On October 5, 2004, the Southern California District Council of Laborers filed a proposal in CPUC proceeding R.0309006 that would require jurisdictional utilities to incorporate in their construction contracting procedures the use of Project Labor Agreements (PLAs) and/or the payment of prevailing wages. PLAs would establish uniform terms and conditions of employment for employees of contractors that bid on and obtain construction work from the utilities. The alternative would be to require utilities to make prevailing wages a condition of a contract for construction work.

Several utilities filed reply comments to the SCDCL's proposals, all of them in opposition to them. Reply comments generally allege that the proposals are untimely, outside the scope of the proceeding, poor public policy and possibly contrary to state and federal labor laws. Some of the parties' reply comments also complained that the parties had only a limited time to address SCDCL's proposals.

This ruling provides an additional opportunity for parties to address the legal and policy issues associated with SCDCL's proposals. Parties may file supplemental reply comments on SCDCL's October 5 proposals. The supplemental reply comments must be served electronically no later than 4pm on November 11, 2004. Because the Commission's Docket Office is closed on November 11, the comments should be filed no later than November 12, 2004. Supplemental reply comments may incorporate earlier reply comments by reference and SCDCL may, in supplemental reply comments, respond to the issues raised by the utilities.

Further, Mountain Utilities objects to language in PG&E's reply comments that suggests the Commission "would have to" reconsider the respondents to this proceeding. This ruling clarifies that the Commission has no formal proposal before it to reverse its previous order on this subject, D.04-04-038.

Thank you for your interest.

Subject: RE: R.03-09-006 Exhibit A-6 to Joint Comments of Verizon California Inc & Pacific Bell Telephone Company on Draft Decision of Commissioner Lynch

Hello Mr. Reyes,
Permitting the exhibits to be included in comments to the proposed decision would be contrary to our rules and might be unfair to parties who may have wished to present similar types of documents with their own comments. All parties have had opportunities to file these types of documents in earlier comments and to refute the claims of those that were filed. Verizon/PacBell are not prejudiced if the attachments are not accepted because they are nevertheless permitted to assert that, on the basis of the existing record, the proposed decision improperly concludes that there is no factual dispute. Your clients have (properly) taken the opportunity to make that argument in their comments. I will not reconsider my ruling.

Thank you,
Kim Malcolm

Subject: RE: R.03-09-006 Exhibit A-6 to Joint Comments of Verizon California Inc & Pacific Bell Telephone Company on Draft Decision of Commissioner Lynch

Judge Malcom:

Verizon and SBC will refile their joint comments today, without the exhibits, as you have permitted below.

We ask, however, that you reconsider your ruling rejecting the exhibits. We believe that their submission is permissible under Rule 77.3. That rule provides that "[n]ew factual information, untested by cross-examination, shall not be included in comments and shall not be relied on as the basis for assertions made in post publication comments." The exhibits, however, were not submitted to provide "new factual information" as the basis for assertions made in the comments. On the contrary, the exhibits were provided for the purpose of impeaching the labor parties' unverified factual submissions that Verizon and SBC believe the draft decision relies upon in error. They consist of an appendix of secondary authority cited in footnote 19 of the joint comments, and are provided as a courtesy to the Commission and the parties who might not have ready access to it. Accordingly, we ask that you allow the exhibits to be submitted for this limited impeachment purpose only.

Respectfully,

Rudolph M. Reyes
